

CREATIVE BUREAUCRACY FESTIVAL

ANNUAL REPORT 2025 & PARTNERSHIP OFFER 2026

INTRO

The 2025 Annual Report of the Creative Bureaucracy Festival showcases a year of transformation, collaboration, and global exchange in public sector innovation. As a platform celebrating imaginative approaches to rethinking government, the festival brought together over 2,100 participants on site in Berlin and thousands more online. This report offers insights into our programme highlights, community engagement, strategic developments, and international partnerships. It reflects our continued commitment to strengthening public institutions, supporting creative public servants, and shaping a more inclusive and capable state for the challenges of our time.

OVERVIEW

ABOUT THE FESTIVAL, ABOUT BUREAUCRACY

“It is great to see so many people with great ideas meet at the Creative Bureaucracy Festival. May all those ideas find their way into government practice!”

Frank-Walter Steinmeier,
Federal President of Germany

“Certainly this is one of those places worldwide where the best public innovators come to swap ideas and learn from each other.”

James Anderson, Government Innovation Lead,
Bloomberg Philanthropies

“A better bureaucracy is a bureaucracy that is open to citizens and has a permanent institution mechanism to include marginalized voices in the decision making.”

Omezzine Khélifa, Former Senior Advisor to the Minister,
Ministry of Finance in Tunisia

“Bureaucracy provides a framework, but within that we can be highly creative in finding solutions. As the world changes, we must rethink how we respond to challenges in order to develop effective answers.”

Simone Schwanitz, Secretary General,
Max Planck Society for the Advancement of Science

“Bureaucrats are the most innovative people on the planet!”

Audrey Tang,
Former Digital Minister of Taiwan

“We need to stop trying to quantify everything and instead find ways to make subjective perceptions visible. Creativity is our path to the future, which is why the Creative Bureaucracy Festival is so important.”

Jeff Kwasi Klein, Co-Founder & CEO, imagineers lab

GLOBAL GOVERNMENT
INNOVATORS FORUM

The Global Government Innovators Forum brings together key public innovation leaders from across the globe. In a moderated format where everyone contributes to setting the agenda, participants discuss pressing concerns and explore future scenarios.

4 JUNE 2025

YOUNG BUREAUCRATS EVENT

The day before the Creative Bureaucracy Festival, emerging public sector talents gather in Berlin to explore what a future-ready government could look like. Through interactive workshops and conversations with peers, partners, and special guests, they exchange ideas, build networks, and develop fresh perspectives on public service.

OCT – DEC 2024

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

Each year, we receive around 250 submissions from public sector changemakers across more than 40 countries – from local innovators to high-level reformers. These contributions offer bold ideas, practical methods, and inspiring tools that are reshaping how governments think, plan, and act. Together, they reflect the growing global momentum behind creative bureaucracy and public sector transformation.

13 MARCH 2025

DIGITAL KICK-OFF

The Digital Kick-Off in March offers a packed programme of inspiring examples of creative bureaucracy in action. It is a free online event for everyone across the globe – kicking off a new year of public sector innovation and offering an additional platform for forward-thinking ideas and projects prior to the live festival in Berlin.

5 JUNE 2025

CREATIVE BUREAUCRACY FESTIVAL

The Creative Bureaucracy Festival highlights bold ideas and the people transforming public institutions. From small tweaks to big visions, it showcases creative solutions to community challenges. It stands for a shift from a culture of “no, because...” to one of “yes, if...” – opening space for experimentation, fresh thinking, and a more hopeful approach to public service.

Reform mit Wirkung: Wie der Staat wieder liefert

Wie kann der Staat trotz knapper Ressourcen leistungsfähiger und effizienter werden? Antworten liefert das aktuelle Gutachten „Bündelung im Föderalstaat“ – diskutiert von führenden Köpfen aus Politik, Verwaltung und Wissenschaft am 4. Juni 2025 im Table-Briefings-Café in Berlin.

Reform mit Wirkung: Wie der Staat wieder liefert

Die öffentliche Verwaltung steht unter Erwartungsdruck. Mit begrenzten Mitteln soll sie schneller, effizienter und resilienter agieren. Doch wie lässt sich staatliche Leistungsfähigkeit nachhaltig steigern – und wie können Aufgaben im föderalen System so organisiert werden, dass sie maximale Wirkung entfalten? Wie ließe sich die Aufgabenverteilung im deutschen Föderalstaat besser organisieren?

Antworten gibt das aktuelle Gutachten „Bündelung im Föderalstaat“ – Zeitgemäße Aufgabenorganisation für eine leistungsfähige und resiliente Verwaltung“ des Nationalen Normenkontrollrats (NKR) und PD – Berater der öffentlichen Hand.

Leonard Schulz, Redakteur des Berlin-Table, diskutiert dazu mit:

BMDs: Die nächsten Schritte des Aufbaus

Matthias Punt

Teamleiter Digitalwende

mit Miriam Dahlinger und Laurenz Gebhrke

Gestern gab es eine erste Hausführung. Eine kleine Gruppe Journalistinnen und Journalisten wurde durch das neue Bundesministerium für Digitalisierung und Staatsmodernisierung (BMDs) geführt. Ich war auch dabei. Das Gebäude in der Englischen Straße in Berlin-Charlottenburg wurde mir schon zum zweiten Mal vorgestellt.

So neu ist es nämlich nicht: Einst hatte Horst Seehofer (CSU) als Innenminister hier seine Digitalabteilungen zusammengezogen. So entstand der räumliche Nukleus für das Digitalressort, weil die dort ansässigen Abteilungen nun wechseln. Eine Übergangslösung, bis eine neue Liegenschaft gefunden wird.

Damals wie heute hieß es: Hier herrscht ab jetzt Start-up-Mentalität, neues Arbeiten – gleich einem Coworking-Space. Ein bisschen Déjà-vu also. Der erste

Hoy nuestros socios Nicolás Rebolledo y Juan Felipe López participaron en el Creative Bureaucracy Festival en Berlín, un espacio donde el sector público se piensa con creatividad, colaboración e imaginación radical.

Desde experiencias locales en América Latina hasta desafíos globales compartidos, ambos participaron en sesiones clave que empujan los límites de cómo entendemos — y rediseñamos— la acción pública en tiempos de disrupción.

PARTICIPANT FEEDBACK
